

NAM CAN THO UNIVERSITY SHARES FACILITIES WITH THE LOCAL COMMUNITY

(DNC) – Nam Can Tho University has been playing an important role in sharing sports facilities with the local community. This not only contributes to improving people's health but also affirms the School's sense of social responsibility.

One of the clearest examples of this is the School's expansion and sharing of sports facilities with the community. The subjects who are shared with sports facilities include students of local schools, officials, and employees of agencies, unions, etc. Sports areas such as soccer fields, volleyball courts, tennis courts, badminton courts, swimming pools, pickleball courts, vovinam arenas... are open free of charge or at preferential fees for people in the area. For every kind of sports, DNC organizes joint training sessions and movement tournaments to create a vibrant atmosphere and encourage everyone to participate. Thanks to that, not only students but also people in the area have the opportunity to exercise and improve their quality of life.

Along with that, Nam Can Tho University coordinates with local organizations and cultural centers to organize major sports events, attracting a large number of people to participate. Moreover, the School also cooperates with schools in the area to create conditions for students to access modern school facilities.

The School organizes sports activities associated with local holidays and major events, creating sports playgrounds for students and people, contributing to the comprehensive development of the young generation.

Every year, the School organizes many large and small sporting events, attracting thousands of participants. In particular, cooperation with schools in the area to organize sports tournaments has created a useful playground for students.

These events are not only an opportunity for people to exercise but also a bridge to connect the community. Thereby creating opportunities to exchange, share and build a civilized and dynamic living environment. This also clearly demonstrates the School's sense of community responsibility, contributing to improving the quality of life for local people. With the philosophy "Education is associated with social responsibility," Nam Can Tho University constantly expands cooperation programs. In particular, the School has coordinated with non-governmental organizations to organize volunteer activities and sponsor community development projects to create practical values for society.

In addition, the School also actively supports localities to organize events such as scientific seminars, competitions, conferences, book exhibitions, and discussions with experts to meet learning needs, scientific research.

Every year, the school organizes a youth information technology competition, providing adequate classrooms, lecturers and auditoriums. In addition, DNC also coordinates with units inside and outside the school to organize volunteer activities and free skills classes for the community.

Nam Can Tho University is always ready to support the city in all event activities, from providing human resources and facilities to creative ideas and expertise of lecturers to help the event take place successfully. Through these activities, the School hopes to contribute to building a dynamic, civilized and sustainable city.

Nam Can Tho University's sharing of modern sports facilities with the local community is not simply an act of sharing but also a clear demonstration of the School's strategic vision in building a healthy and dynamic living environment. By creating favorable conditions for people to participate in sports activities, the School is contributing to improving the quality of life, promoting the spirit of solidarity and community cohesion.
