

Knowledge connectivity from the lecturer at Nam Can Tho University by Dr. Ho Van Linh, a medical specialist of Hue Central Hospital

On October 5, 2023, Dr. Ho Van Linh, Head of the Surgery Department and Deputy Head of the Gastroenterology Department at Hue Central Hospital, conducted a classroom session with medical students at Nam Can Tho University. During this session, he shared valuable insights related to their field of study, helping the students enhance their knowledge and gain practical experience for their medical education. This was a valuable opportunity for students to acquire in-depth knowledge and practical insights from an experienced medical expert. It is expected that this session will positively contribute to the goal of improving the quality of education and healthcare for society.

Nam Can Tho University and Hue Central Hospital have recently signed a collaboration agreement to train healthcare personnel. The agreement specifically focuses on enhancing the knowledge, teaching skills, and scientific research capacity of Nam Can Tho University's lecturers in the field of health education. This partnership aims to provide the community with highly skilled medical professionals. As part of this collaboration, Dr. Ho Van Linh delivered a lecture at Nam Can Tho University.
