

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS - SERVING THE COMMUNITY OF THE FACULTY OF LAW AT NAM CAN THO UNIVERSITY

The Faculty of Law, Nam Can Tho University is tasked with training legal groups at undergraduate and postgraduate levels, conducting legal scientific research, and serving the community. Since its establishment, the Faculty of Law has carried out numerous meaningful community service activities with practical significance to meet Sustainable Development Goals at Nam Can Tho University. Notable activities include:

1. LEGAL DISSEMINATION AND EDUCATION ACTIVITIES

Legal dissemination and education activities are regular activities of the Faculty of Law. Among these, the organization of mock trials is a frequent activity that serves both as an extracurricular academic activity and a form of legal dissemination and education activities. The mock trials handle criminal, civil, and economic cases based on real case files. These events have attracted a large number of students from various majors within and outside the university. Through these mock trials, participants are introduced to, disseminated, and explained the regulations related to the cases, thereby raising legal awareness, deterring legal violations, and reducing crime in society. Below are images from some mock trials organized by the Faculty of Law:

2. CHARITABLE ACTIVITIES SERVING THE COMMUNITY

In recent years, the Faculty of Law has consistently completed tasks of supervising and inspecting the national high school graduation exams as assigned by the Ministry of Education and Training. Every year, faculty members engage in donation activities to support flood victims in Central Vietnam, support the poor, and contribute to Covid-19 prevention and control efforts. Additionally, during holidays and Tet, the Law Faculty's Youth Union organizes various meaningful charity programs such as "Tet for the Poor," "Mid-Autumn Festival for Children," and "Children's Day" to spread love and help those in difficult circumstances. Below are some notable charity activities by the Faculty of Law in recent times:

2.1. Awarding scholarships to students with difficult circumstances and a spirit of overcoming difficulties in learning

The Faculty of Law, Nam Can Tho University has always been concerned with helping students with difficult circumstances, helping them pursue their education and achieve their dreams. The Faculty has mobilized businesses and philanthropists to award hundreds of scholarships to students who have overcome difficulties and challenges in their studies and achieved good results.

2.3. Summer Youth Volunteer Campaign 2023

The summer volunteer campaign is an annual activity of the Youth Union in general and the Faculty of Law's Youth Union in particular, showcasing the enthusiasm of young people. During each campaign, the Faculty of Law conducts various community service activities such as building rural roads, repairing houses for poor households, cleaning roads, parks, and canals, providing legal education and consultations for the poor, activating digital personal identification accounts for citizens, and giving gifts to those in difficult circumstances. These community service activities help develop students' courage and sense of responsibility towards themselves, their families, and society.

2.4. "Green Sunday" Program

"Green Sunday" is a regular activity of the Faculty of Law's Youth Union, aimed at building a green - clean - beautiful environment. This activity educates students and promotes responsible waste disposal, encouraging people to dispose of garbage correctly and maintain cleanliness, contributing to a civilized and responsible lifestyle. The program has been well-received by local authorities and residents, highlighting the enthusiasm and community spirit of the Law Faculty students. Protecting the environment for the green of the Earth and for the green in our heart is a key message of this activity.
